

Lead with Purpose

THE CAMPAIGN FOR BISHOP'S

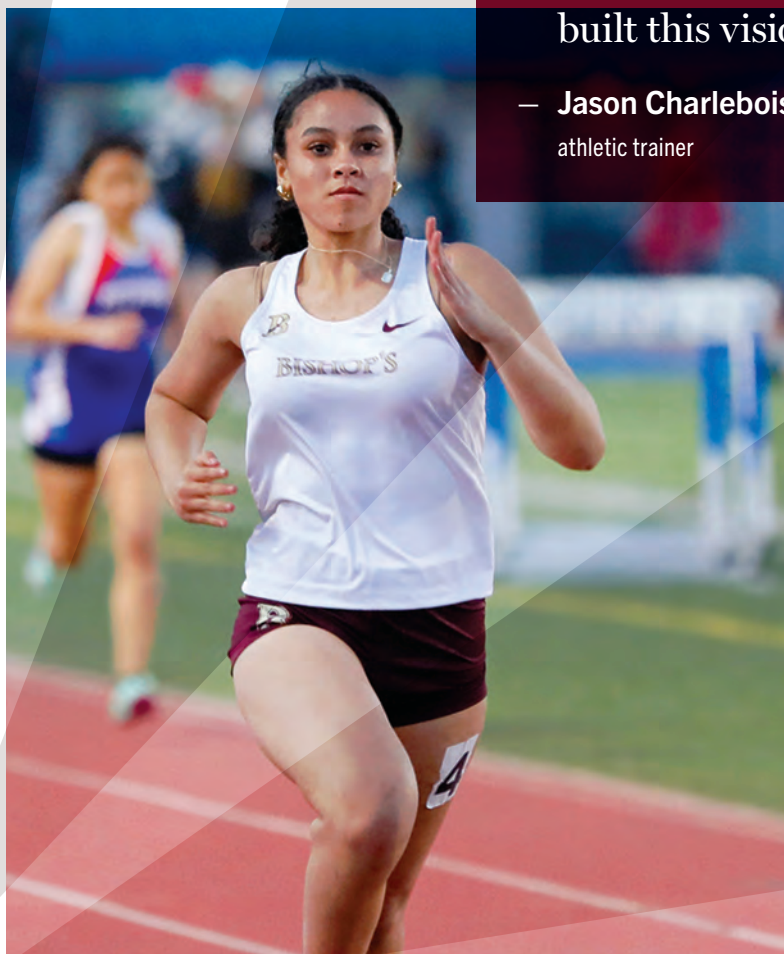

Game Changer

Wu Tsai Field House

“We’ve succeeded with limited space because at Bishop’s we have a culture of collaboration, and we care deeply about our kids. People are excited about the facility because we’ve all built this vision together.”

— Jason Charlebois
athletic trainer

HIGH PERFORMANCE

Meets Well-Being

Bishop's athletic teams have won 123 CIF and League titles in the past 17 years, ranking our school fifth among all San Diego schools. Our entire community is proud of how we "punch above our weight" against larger athletic powerhouses.

Now, a visionary commitment to the Lead with Purpose campaign from Clara Wu and Joe Tsai PP '17, '20, '25 has opened the door to an athletic facility worthy of Bishop's outstanding record.

We need your help to capture this opportunity. To make the Wu Tsai Field House a reality as quickly as possible, we seek additional investment from other passionate athletics supporters across our community. Together, we will transform skill-building and training for our high-performing athletes. We will foster lifelong physical activity, teamwork and well-being for every Bishop's student.

Wu Tsai Field House

A big win for our entire community

Given the landlocked nature of Bishop's campus, this is a rare opportunity. With your help, we will construct and endow a best-in-class athletics facility that delivers space, functionality, equipment and technology that our Knights need to train at the highest levels.

As a school, we are driven by the question, "How do our students learn and grow best?" The Wu Tsai Field House is our latest answer to that question from an athletics perspective. Bishop's aspires to be the best at preparing top athletes for championship play and helping all students reach their fullest physical potential. The Wu Tsai Field House gives us the tools to achieve that goal.

This vibrant campus landmark will cultivate daily activity and connection among all students and community members. Roughly 85 percent of the student body will use the facility as interscholastic athletes; the remainder through physical education classes, club activities and personal fitness. The Wu Tsai Field House will also serve as a centerpiece for community events, and it will elevate the game-day experience for families, alumni and fans.

In short, the Wu Tsai Field House will enhance the whole student experience and the whole Bishop's community.

“This past year, 24 Bishop's students went on to play collegiate sports. We are their bridge to the next level, and we need to ensure they're superbly prepared.”

— Paula Conway

director of athletics; varsity field hockey coach

EXTERIOR VIEW

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING SUITE / SPRINT TRACKS (INDOOR & OUTDOOR)

Conceptual renderings; some aspects may change.

Best in Class

The Wu Tsai Field House will deliver major program benefits

Your investment will initiate far-reaching results in this dynamic facility where students, coaches and trainers focus on multiple skills to optimize our Knights' performance and well-being. You can direct your investment to the program area that is most meaningful to you.

“My program has two components, let’s call them ‘speed’ and ‘strength.’ For the first time ever, I’ll be able to train Bishop’s students in both, simultaneously, under one roof.”

— Charles Johnson

strength and conditioning director

Transform strength and conditioning

The Wu Tsai Field House includes a state-of-the-art strength and conditioning suite. Here, we will bring weight training and field work into the same location for the first time. This proximity, combined with greater working space and new equipment, will enable us to train more students simultaneously, and with superior tools. The new suite also reduces competition for the fields outside. The turf training track will enable students to enhance their agility and explosiveness. Twelve weight racks and lifting platforms will serve 48 students at once. Technology tools will provide students with real-time analysis of their execution. This will be a signature space, highly visible from the street level, full of students in action, pursuing their peak abilities.

Transform sports medicine and rehabilitation

In the Wu Tsai Field House, we will expand our modest training room into a modern sports medicine suite. This treatment and education hub will deliver proactive services that help prevent injury and also provide rehabilitation for injuries that have occurred. The suite will more than double our sports medicine space, allowing us to add treatment tables, expand the hydrotherapy and icing areas and — above all — create room for a second trainer to work. With increased staffing, we can better serve students receiving full rehab treatment and those coming in to prepare for games and practices.

TEAM DEVELOPMENT & FILM ROOM

Conceptual renderings; some aspects may change.

Optimize mindsets and mental training

The Wu Tsai Field House will serve as home base for a new optimal performance psychologist position. This professional will center key questions for our student-athletes and performers, such as: “How are you prepared mentally for the game? How are you dealing with setbacks? How are you getting rest? How are you balancing your life?” They will work on skills such as positive mindset and game-day mental preparation, as well as overall well-being. For students coping with recovery from injuries, the performance psychologist will partner closely with our athletic trainers.

Promote sports-specific nutrition

Dietary needs vary according to a range of factors — a female runner’s needs differ vastly from those of a male lacrosse player, for example. The Wu Tsai Field House will include a refueling station, where our trainers and coaches will curate snacks and meals and educate students to eat properly for their bodies and their sports. For the first time, performance nutrition will be highly visible, and our Knights will have on-site access to appropriate foods, rather than leaving campus for snacks or potentially skipping meals.

“I’m excited for how shared spaces — from the refueling station to the practice areas — will foster community among Bishop’s teams and all our students.”

— Meghan Carr

PE department chair; varsity lacrosse coach

REFUELING STATION & LOUNGE

Boost superior coaching and game analysis

The Wu Tsai Field House will, for the first time, provide dedicated spaces for pre-game preparation, post-game analysis, full team meetings, and a multitude of interactions between coaches and players. Top athletic performance relies more and more on the development and refinement of skills, and the integration of new analytic technology will provide insights and strategies to coaches and athletes alike. New spaces include a 74-seat team development and film room, two well-being classrooms, a shared “bullpen” for adjunct coaches, and many other venues.

Maximize avenues for skill-building

Two simulation rooms on the upper floor will give students an immersive experience in which to hone their technique, practice skills, receive immediate feedback, and track progress over time. Twelve-foot ceilings will accommodate everything from football block-and-tackle to full golf swings and batting practice.

Increase efficiency and comfort for players

Spacious, modern locker rooms will serve Bishop’s upper school athletes and visiting teams, allowing the current locker rooms in the Eva May Fleet Athletic Center to be primarily reserved for middle school students. The new locker rooms will include greatly expanded storage space for the gear used in each season by Bishop’s teams, allowing students to access their equipment easily and store it overnight.

Welcome the entire community

Every day, the Wu Tsai Field House will be a dynamic hub for students, teachers and staff. This is a place to make meaningful connections with teammates, coaches and friends. In addition, multiple meeting spaces will host community functions. On the upper floor, a wrap-around observation deck will provide a gathering spot for game-day spectators and for alumni events such Bish Bowl, Reunion Weekend and Hall of Fame celebrations — complete with views of the tennis courts, pool and turf field.

Your Leadership In Action

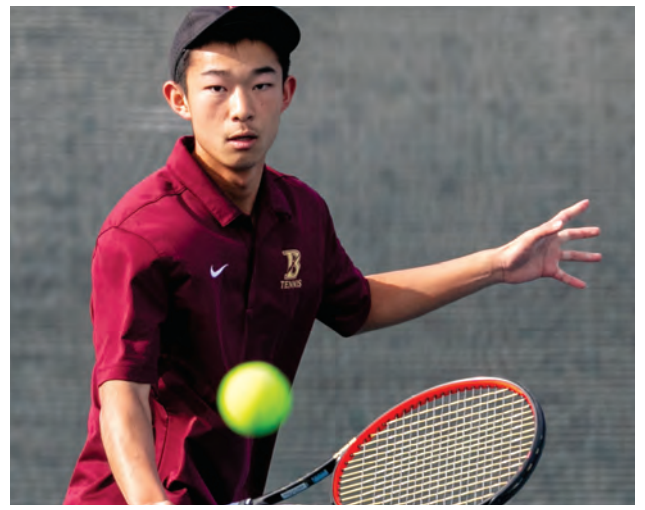

To construct and endow the Wu Tsai Field House, we will raise a total of $35 million in new philanthropic investments. With your support, Bishop's will create a facility that propels our athletes to new heights; helps recruit new athletic and coaching talent; engages and inspires applicants, alumni and families; and unites our entire community in the spirit of well-being and the pursuit of future championships.

These goals are possible because over many years, Bishop's supporters and leaders have always inspired us to imagine Bishop's future with the highest ambitions. Our school is on the move and ready to lead in multiple, interconnected arenas. Thank you for considering this investment in the proud legacy and extraordinary future of Knights athletics.

“Coaching is so much more than athletics. It provides a platform for us to teach and model and mentor at a whole different level.”

— Shane Walton '98
head football coach

The Lead with Purpose Campaign

At The Bishop's School, we pursue this guiding question: "How do our students learn and grow best?" We launched the Lead with Purpose campaign to ensure that our students are equipped to achieve their highest potential in today's world — not only with superb academic skills, but also with resilience, integrity and optimism at their core. This is the educational mandate of our time, and Bishop's is answering the call.

Our Lead with Purpose campaign centers well-being while also magnifying academic growth. With six interconnected goals, this is the most creative and ambitious campaign in our history. Together, we will build a platform for student achievement that is uniquely empowering and distinctly Bishop's. We will establish Bishop's as a national leader among independent schools. As a community, we are united and ready to lead with purpose.

campaignforbishops.com

